KING EDWARD CROWNED.

Returned to London in Excellent Health and Spirits.

Officers of the Coptic, just before sailing, received a telephone from the Merchant's Exchange giving a cablegram recording the crowning of King Edward VII, of England:

"The King was crowned at 12:39 p. m. The news of the crowning was announced by an official outside the Abbey. It was repeated by signal through London and was received with cheers which spread throughout the stands and crowds far up the street and the bells pealed joyfully. The Queen was crowned at 12:56 p. m. The return voyages of Their Majesties commenced at 1:23 p. m. As Their Majesties were leaving the Abbey the rain commenced to fall and they deferred their journey until the rain ceased. They left at 2:06 p. m. The return journey which was slow, was marked by scenes of enthusiasm. Their Majesties arrived at the Palace at 2:55 p. m.

READY FOR KING'S CROWNING

Delayed Ceremony Will Take Place in Westminster Abbey Today.

London, Aug. 8.—The eve of the coronation of King Edward VII was marked in London by the evening somewhat aimlessly through the semi-illuminated streets. Down Whitehall, where the Canadian arch was the center of attraction, around Westminster

Abbeys were blocked with the expectant populace. The people were deterred from any signs of rowdiness by the acute recollection of the recent postponement of the coronation, and those who had seen the unrestrained exhibitions which occurred upon the slightest pretext during war times could not fail to notice the different temperament shown tonight. With a few exceptions it might have been well said of the metropolis of the empire that it was living up to the national reputation of taking its pleasures somewhat sadly.

The absence of blatant horns and annoying feathers was pleasantly atoned for by the lighting up of many buildings. The brilliancy of the illumination held the country visitors to the city so spellbound that vehicular traffic became more and more difficult as the night wore on. Until a very late hour the stand speculators did a thrilling business, and around those stands occupying good locations there were lines of people anxious to get seats at the last moment. Many of the thousands who walked through the streets exhibited unmistakable signs of an intention to stay up all night in the hope of securing a free point of vantage from which to view tomorrow's procession.

Among the many incidents of the night, one of the most curious occurred at Scotland Yard, where a Scottish magnate, who had received a sudden telegraphic invitation to be present at Westminster Abbey, with the proviso that he appear in court dress, appeared at a late hour to the police to help him hire or borrow the clothes necessary for admittance.

All signs point to an orderly celebration under doubtful weather conditions, and with public enthusiasm tempered by heartfelt relief over the passing of the shadow which so recently overcast the empire.

King Edward passed a busy day at Buckingham Palace and did not appear to the public at all. At a late hour tonight he was reported as feeling quite strong and as looking forward to tomorrow's ceremonies without the slightest misgiving.

Acting upon medical advice, Lord Salisbury has obtained the King's permission to absent himself from the coronation. The ex-Premier will shortly leave for the Continent.

MARCUS ISLAND EPISODE.

Honolulu Story That Captain Rosehill Carried Mausers to be Used.

Honolulu, August 2.—The cruise of the schooner Julia E. Whalen, Captain Rosehill, to Marcus island turns out to be an armed expedition with instructions to land, establish a camp, run up the American flag and keep it up until it was torn down by a superior force.

Colonel Thomas Fitch, one of the promoters of the expedition and its legal adviser, is authority for the statement that the expedition took a sufficient armament of Mauser rifles and a good supply of ammunition, and that Captain Rosehill was instructed to "remember that he carried with him the license of the State Department of the United States to occupy the island for the purpose of removing the guano deposits, for which the company had given a bond of $50,000 that had been accepted by the State Department."

The Julia E. Whalen sailed from here on July 10th to go to Marcus island, which Captain Rosehill says he discovered in 1889 and claimed on behalf of the United States, and which he and W. C. Peacock, Colonel Fitch and others are now seeking to exploit under the act of congress relating to guano islands.

The island is 2800 miles to the westward of Honolulu and about 800 miles from Yokohama.

When the Ventura arrived here on July 30th with news that the Japanese Government claimed the island, and was about to send a fleet and enforce its claim, and which would probably arrive before the Whalen, Colonel Fitch gave out the news that if objections were offered to Captain Rosehill's landing, he was to explain his purpose in visiting the island and to land unless forcibly prevented. In that case he was to sail out of sight, and, under cover of night, return to the other side of the island, leave three men in charge of the schooner and with the rest of the crew armed with Mauser rifles, make a landing, establish a camp, raise the American flag and maintain it until it was torn down by superior force.

In the event of meeting a Japanese man-of-war Captain Rosehill was to present his credentials and request permission to land. If this was refused he was to take the American flag in his boat and land, despite the refusal, and go on with the expedition until physically driven away by the Japanese Government.

The Whalen carried a crew of ten men besides Captain Rosehill and T. F. Sedgwick of the United States agricultural experiment station here, who went as chemist for the promoters, and W. A. Bryan of the Bishop Museum, who went to study the bird and animal life of the island.

ENGLAND SEES COMPETITION.

Board of Trade Discusses Commercial Struggle of Nations.

London, August 7.—The struggle for trade form the subject of a report by the commercial department of the Board of Trade just issued, in which exhaustive statistics are given, comparing the population and commerce of Great Britain with those of her principal business competitors, the United States and Germany, and the conclusion reached is that America and Germany, owing to their greater increase in population are traveling upward more rapidly than Great Britain.

If peace is maintained, says the official report, both the United States and Germany are certain to increase the rate of their upward movement, and their competition with Great Britain in neutral markets, and probably even in home markets, will become increasingly serious.

CHANGES IN BRITISH CABINET.

Complete Roster of the New British Administration.

London, August 8.—Official announcement was made today that Austen Chamberlain, son of the Colonial Secretary, has been appointed Postmaster General, vice the Marquis of Londonderry, resigned. The appointment of Sir William Hood Walrand to be Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster in place of Lord James of Hereford, resigned because of ill health, also was officially announced today.

It is stated that a new office, that of Minister of Education, has been created, to which the Marquis of Londonderry has been appointed.

It is officially announced that King Edward has approved the appointments of the Earl of Dudley as Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, Charles Thompson Ritchie as Chancellor of the Exchequer, Aretas Akers-Douglas as Home Secretary, Austen Chamberlain as Postmaster General, and Sir William Hood Walrand to be Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, as well as the appointments which follow: President of the Board of Education, the Marquis of Londonderry; First Commissioner of Works, Lord Windsor, in succession to Aretas Akers-Douglas; Financial Secretary of the Treasury, William Hayes Fisher, in succession to Austen Chamberlain (Fisher has been a Junior Lord of the Treasury since 1895); Patronage Secretary of the Treasury, Sir Alexander Fuller Acland-Hood, vice Sir William Forster, M. P.; Under Secretary for India, Earl Percy; Under Secretary to the Home Office, Thomas Horatio Arthur Ernest Cochran, M. P.; Under Secretary to the War Office, the Earl of Hardwicke, who was Under Secretary for India; Parliamentary Secretary of Education, Sir William Reynell Anson, M. P.; Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade, Andrew Bonar Law, M. P.

KING EDWARD SPEAKS.

Expresses Gratitude for Sympathy of His Subjects in His Illness.

London, Aug. 7.—The following message from King Edward to his people was made public tonight:

"To my people: On the eve of my coronation, an event which I look upon as one of the most solemn and important of my life, I am anxious to express to my people, at home and in the colonies and in India, my heartfelt appreciation of the deep sympathy they have manifested toward me during a time in my life of much imminent danger. The postponement of the coronation ceremony, owing to my illness, has caused, I fear, much inconvenience and trouble to all who intended to celebrate it. But their disappointment has been borne by them with admirable patience and temper.

"The prayers of my people for my recovery were heard, and I now offer up my deepest gratitude to Divine Providence for having preserved my life and given me strength to fulfill the important duties which devolve upon me as sovereign of this great empire."

EDWARD, R. AND I.

WHITE RESIGNS.

He Will Retire From the Berlin Post in November.

Mr. White's resignation may now be in the hands of President Roosevelt. The date set for his resignation to take effect was November 7th. He is now at Hamburg, where he is taking the waters and where he will probably remain until the end of the month.
